LEARN MORE ABOUT IT

What makes baobab an ethnobotanical?

Ethnobotanicals are plants or herbs that are tied to a region and its people. Baobab falls into this group because of its traditional use in Africa. Baobab trees were used for food, water, and even homes, while baobab fruit was used for a variety of unique purposes.

Can Baobab Body Butter be used as an insect repellent?

No, the product is not designed to repel insects and does not meet the requirements to be registered as an insect repellent in most markets. As such, Nu Skin and its Brand Affiliates cannot make any product claims related to insects or mosquitos.

Are baobab trees cut down to make Epoch Baobab Body Butter?

No. Baobab Body Butter features baobab fruit pulp extract, so the tree is unharmed.

Can I use Baobab Body Butter on my face?

You shouldn't use Epoch Baobab Body Butter on your face—this product was specifically designed for your body. For a rich facial moisturizer, try Nutricentials® Moisturize Me.
